Which stock that you have owned during the game ended up being the most profitable for your portfolio?

Which stock that you have owned during the game ended up being the worst creator of value for you?

The game started on 1/30 and 1/31. As compared to today's value, did your final total portfolio value exceed the DOW JONES performance (by %) during this time period? Did the final total portfolio value exceed the S&P 500? Show the specific values of your portfolio as compared to both.

Looking at this graph, why would economists likely warn against using the stock market measurements (DOW, S&P 500, etc) as the primary measurement on how the economy as a whole is doing?
